Swedish knowledge and rehabilitation centre for children and adults with multiple limb loss

What is EX-Center?

EX-Center is a Swedish centre for rehabilitation and information. It helps children and adults with congenital limb deficiencies or amputations of more than one arm or leg caused by injury or illness.

It is located in Stockholm and is run by the Amputation and Dysmelia Center at Ottobock Care and the Swedish Thalidomide Society, NGO. We have been in operation since 1993. EX-Center's habilitation and rehabilitation work is done from an all-inclusive perspective, with knowledge-developing efforts and distribution of information. We function as a complement to the support that is offered in Swedish local authorities and county councils.

For whom?

We welcome all who have multiple limb loss. Our target group is primarily people with congenital limb deficiencies (Dysmelia), people with Thalidomide effects, and those with amputations. We offer assessments and lifelong treatment, and welcome people from all over Sweden as well as from abroad.

The team's expertise and experience

EX-Center's multidiscipline team consists of coordinator, orthopaedic doctor, occupational therapists, physical therapists, psychologist and prosthetists.

The team has a very broad interdisciplinary knowledge base that has been built up over a period of more than thirty years. Our strength lies in the very close cooperation we have in the team, centred on the patient. Our treatment philosophy is that the patient's needs and wishes determine the treatment.

Our patient coordinator takes care of all contacts before, during and after the visit at EX-Center.

Meet role models

We know how useful it can be to meet people with functional disabilities similar to yours, who are willing to share some of their experiences. EX-Center always tries to organize a meeting between you, your family or those close to you, and one or more role models. This can also be especially helpful for the parents of a child with limb deficiencies.

How can EX-Center help you?

Our team can help you with:

- obtaining medical certification
- giving you information about special adaptations, assistive technology and practical tips, www.tipbase.org
- supplying prescriptions for arm and leg prostheses, as well as helping with trying them out and with prosthesis training
- providing physical therapy treatment and designing an individual training programme

- giving you knowledge on pain management
 - modifying your home, school and work environments as well as your car
 - supplying psychological support for different stages of life
 - giving suggestions and adaptations for leisure-time activities
- ... and much more!

How do you get to EX-Center?

If you live in Europe you can apply for planned medical care in another EU country (E112). You can also visit EX-Center as a private patient. For more information about the referral process please contact us.
